They will be brief. Rev. O. B. Milligan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, where President and Mrs. McKinley were married 25 years ago, will make the opening prayer. Dr. John Hill of the Evangelical Lutheran church will make the first scriptural reading, and Dr. E. P. Herberuck of Trinity Reformed church the second. Dr. C. E. Manchester, pastor of the late president's church, will deliver the only address. A quartet will sing "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and another quartet will render Cardinal Newman's hymn "Lead, Kindly Light." An imposing procession consisting of many G. A. R. posts in the state, the national guard of Ohio, details of regulars from all branches of the service, fraternal, social and civic organizations from all over the country, governors of several states with their staffs, the senate and house, will follow the remains to the Westlawn cemetery where they will be placed in a receiving vaut awaiting the time when they will be placed in the ground beside the children buried years ago. The number and beauty of the floral tributes which are arriving surpass belief. Flowers are coming by the ton. The hothouses of the country seem to have been emptied to supply them.

The railroad facilities are being taxed to handle the immense crowds as well as the facilities of the little city of Canton ...although the local committee is doing everything in its power to provide food and shelter many of the officials from Washington are obliged to sleep in the cars they came in and tonight hundreds are walking the streets seeking food and places to sleep. The population of Canton is about 31,000, but it is expected that over 100,000 people will be here tomorrow. Fortunately the members of the senate and house will not arrive until tomorrow.

President Roosevelt, his naval aide, Captain Cowles, Secretary Root and Assistant Secretary Hill are at the spacious residence of Mrs. George D. Harter on Market street. A company of Ohio militia guards the house. During the day President Roosevelt walked over to the McKinley residence to inquire for Mrs. McKinley. He was informed that she had stood the trip from Washington bravely but it would not be advisable for her to attend the service at the church tomorrow. She will therefore remain at home with Dr. Rixey.

The generals and admirals who comprise the guard of honor are also at private residences.

President Roosevelt and the official party will start for Washington at 7 tomorrow night. Secretary Cortelyou will return to Washington tomorrow to gather up President McKinley's personal effects and will return to Canton to aid Mrs. McKinley to straighten out the private affairs.

Beneath the heavy black veil she held her handkerchief to her eyes and her slight figure shook convulsively. Gently she was lifted from the car and supported by Dr. Rixey and Abner McKinley, was practically carried to a carriage in waiting at the east end of the station. The door of the carriage was closed and Mrs. McKinley was driven hurriedly to her home.

Colonel Bingham, the president's aide, then gave directions for the removal of the casket from the car. The casket was too large to be taken through the door and a broad window at the side was unscrewed and removed. While this was going on, the floral pieces inside were carefully lifted out and placed upon the ground at the side of the track. When all was ready the soldiers and sailors who had accompanied the remains all the way from Buffalo emerged from the car and took up their places. The soldiers trailed their arms at their sides and the sailors held their drawn cutlasses at their sides. Only the body bearers were bareheaded and unarmed.

Meantime President Roosevelt, with his brotherhelan, Captain Cowles of the navy, in full uniform, at his side, had descended from the car ahead of that occupied by Mrs. McKinley. The members of the cabinet, Secretary Cortelyou, Governor Nash, Lieutenant Governor Caldwell and Judge Marshall J. Williams of the supreme court, representing the three branches of the state government of Ohio, followed.

The president was met by Judge Grant, of the reception committee and the official party then moved to the west of the station, where they formed in line with the president at the head. All were uncovered. The casket was then lifted through the window and taken upon the brawny shoulders of the body bearers. Only the men who in life

Proclamations.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

A terrible bereavement has befallen our people. The president of the United States has been struck down; a crime committed not only against the chief magistrate but against every law-abiding and liberty-loving citizen.

President McKinley crowned a life of largest love for his fellow men, of most earnest endeavor for their welfare, by a death of Christian fortitude; and both the way in which he devoted his life and the way in which, in the supreme hour of trial, he met his death, will remain forever a precious heritage of our people.

It is meet that we, as a nation, express our abiding love and reverence for his life, our deep sorrow for his untimely death.

Now, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States of America, do appoint Thursday next, September 19, the day on which the body of the dead president will be laid in its last earthly resting place, as a day of prayer and mourning throughout the nation. I earnestly recommend all the people to assemble on that day in their respective places of divine worship, there to bow down in submission to the will of Almighty God, and to pay out of full hearts their homage of love and reverence to the great and good president whose death has smitten the nation with bitter grief.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, the 14th day of September, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and one, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-sixth.

(Seal). Theodore Roosevelt.

By the President, John Hay, Secretary of State.

BY THE GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF COLORADO.

Whereas, The funeral services over the body of our late chief executive, William McKinley, are to be held on Thursday, the 19th day of September, A. D. 1901, and as a token of honor, respect and esteem which it is but fitting should be shown by a loyal people to the remains of one highly honored and loved;

Therefore, I, James B. Orman, governor of the state of Colorado, do hereby recommend and request that all labor, business and pleasure cease upon said day, in so far as is possible, and that the people assemble in their customary and usual places of worship and assist in the funeral and memorial exercises of the day.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state to be affixed, in the city of Denver and state of Colorado, this 17th day of September, A. D., 1901.

James B. Orman.

By the Governor: D. A. Mills, Secretary of State.

BY THE MAYOR OF COLORADO SPRINGS.

To carry out the letter and spirit of the proclamation of President Roosevelt and of Governor Orman all of the city offices will be closed on Thursday, September 19, the day set apart for the interment of our deceased president, William McKinley.

It is expected that all business shall be suspended for the entire day and I urge that in accordance with the resolutions of the citizen's committee no sports or social functions mar the solemnity of the day which should be devoted to mourning, prayer and reflection.

John R. Robinson, Mayor.

STRINGENT MEASURES TO SUPPRESS ANARCHISM

New York, Sept. 18.—Alfred Dangchall, a Dane, aged 52 years, was today sent to jail at Plainfield, N. J., for 60 days in default of a fine of $50 imposed upon him for abusive language directed against the late President McKinley.

New York, Sept. 18.—At Magistrate Cornell was leaving the Essex Market Police court today he was accosted by a man who spoke sneeringly of a mourning band which the magistrate wore on his left sleeve in memory of President McKinley. The magistrate at once arrested the man and took him back to the court where he said he was William Davis, a shoemaker of Troy, N. Y. Magistrate Cornell sentenced him to Blackwell's island for two months.

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 18.—Citizens of Norman, Oklahoma, are demanding the resignation of Police Judge A. S. Overstreet, because he is reported to have said that it was a shame to hang Emma Goldman and that it would have been better for the poor people if McKinley had been killed long ago.

Marshfield, Ore., Sept. 18.—John Peterson, a foreigner who claims to be a Norwegian, was run out of Marshfield today on account of utterances derogatory of the late President McKinley. Two men living on Coos river are reported to have expressed satisfaction at President McKinley's assassination, and a party has been formed to visit them tomorrow.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 18.—Robert Walsh was taken before the police judge today and sentenced to the county jail for three months for saying that he was glad President McKinley had been killed.

St. Paul, Sept. 18.—Rev. D. H. Dalquist tonight narrowly escaped from a mob of about a thousand people who were demanding that he be lynched. Dalquist is alleged to have made a speech in Minneapolis a few days ago in which he referred to the assassination of President McKinley as a "noble deed." The man is an itinerant preacher and has been holding meetings on Payne avenue, in a district largely inhabited by Scandinavians. Many of these people had heard of the Minneapolis speech, and when he appeared at the hall tonight to preach a crowd of over 1,000 had assembled.

As soon as he was seen a rush was made for him and threats of hanging and other ill treatment were heard on all sides. He had anticipated trouble, however, and a squad of policemen acted as a body guard. They had great difficulty in protecting him and at last he broke away, jumped out of a window and ran down the street with the mob at his heels. Dalquist outfooted his pursuers, however, and escaped.

CZAR IN FRANCE GUARDED BY TWO LINES OF TROOPS

Compiegne, Sept. 18.—The czar's first day on French soil passed without untoward incident except a delay of a couple of hours in docking the Standart, the Russian imperial yacht, at Dunkirk. The presidential train conveying M. Loubet and the czar and czarina, with their suites arrived at Compiegne this evening. The utmost vigilance was exercised along the railroad track. The train dashed through a double row of bayonets and drawn sabers as the infantry was reinforced by regiments of dragoons and hussars. In some cases a double line of troops was on each side of the track, the first line being foot soldiers and the second line cavalry. Any outrage along the track was utterly impossible, as no one was allowed to approach it.

The town of Compiegne was brilliantly illuminated, the whole route from the station to the chateau being decorated with festoons and colored lights. The streets were clear of the public and the sidewalks were occupied by soldiers. Every window, however, was filled with spectators who greeted Emperor Nicholas with an incessant roar of cheers. A four horse landau with the czarina and ladies of honor headed the procession. Emperor Nicholas and President Loubet following together. At the back of their landau was a presidential footman and a scarlet coated Cossack. Cannon salutes were fired and the band played the "Marseillaise" and the Russian hymn until the chateau was reached.

This beautiful structure was illuminated with lines of electric lamps. The evening was spent quietly at the castle, M. and Mme. Loubet and the czar and the czarina dining in their respective apartments.

Paris, Sept. 18.—The arrival of Emperor Nicholas in France was celebrated in Paris tonight by a general illumination of the city. The Elysee palace, all public buildings, all theaters, many churches and numerous business buildings and private residences were ablaze with rows of flaring gas jets. The national and other ornamental devices were to be seen everywhere. French and Russian flags were displayed along the principal streets, the boulevards presenting a gorgeous spectacle of light and color, in the midst of which it was a curiously impressive sight to behold many American flags draped with crepe. These indeed, were so numerous in some of the principal thoroughfares as to give a decided note of mourning to a brilliant scene. The cafes and streets were thronged until a late hour with animated, but orderly, crowds. Telegrams from the provinces reported that similar rejoicings were taking place throughout the country.

ELDORA THREATENED BY A FOREST FIRE

Denver, Sept. 18.—A special to the Republican from Eldora, Colo., says that that city is seriously threatened by a forest fire which started on Woodland mountain Sunday. All the inhabitants of the town are remaining up tonight to fight the fire should it reach there. Already 35 square miles of heavy timber has been burned and many mine buildings destroyed. These are supposed to include the buildings of the Revenge mine, where 35 men are on duty to protect the property. The telephone from Eldora to the Revenge mine has gone down and it is not known whether the fire has reached there or not. Quite a settlement surrounds the mine and the families with their household goods were removed to Eldora today. Three women and one man who were the last to leave the place were cut off from Eldora by the fire and had to take another route, great fears being entertained for their safety.

A miner named McMurtie, on Guinn mountain, is reported to have been badly burned while trying to rescue his effects from his burning cabin, but it is not known whether he is fatally burned.

Quigley & Co.'s sawmill at the foot of Woodland mountain with the settlement surrounding it has been burned.

The fire started on Woodland mountain and has spread to Guinn and Bryan mountains and is still burning fiercely. The loss from the destruction of timber will be many thousands of dollars and will be almost irreparable to the miners operating in that district. Many head of cattle are reported to have perished.

CANADA OBSERVES DAY OF MOURNING

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 18.—A proclamation was issued today by the secretary of state, by command of Lord Minto, governor general of Canada, appointing tomorrow a day of fast and general mourning through the dominion on account of the bereavement which has befallen the people of the United States by the death of their chief magistrate.

IDINGS SENT BACK TO THE PENITENTIARY

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 18.—Frank Idings, the man who recently declared that he belonged to a society that would pay $50,000 to any man who would kill President Roosevelt, was today ordered turned over to the board of managers of the Ohio state penitentiary by Judge Kennedy of the Central police court. Idings was identified as a paroled convict. He was sentenced to the penitentiary in March, 1898, to serve five years for burglary and larceny in this city and was paroled in December, 1898. As a result of his utterances recently Idings will serve at least two years more in the state prison.

SETH LOW FOR MAYOR

New York, Sept. 18.—The Committee of 15 of the anti-Tammany organizations, which has been holding sessions for several days considering candidates for mayor, to be submitted to the general conference of the organization, took a final vote tonight which stood: For Seth Low, 17; for George L. Rives, 1. The general conference then met and selected Seth Low as its candidate for mayor. In its regular course this nomination will now go to the nominating conventions of the various anti-Tammany bodies.

AN ARMED ATTACK BY UNION MINERS

Madisonville, Ky., Sept. 18. Early this morning a force of union miners attacked the Poinecke mine where a strike has been in progress for some time. The union men opened are when the guards were least expecting an attack and about 500 shots were exchanged but no one was injured. At 6 o'clock this evening another attack was made. After about 200 shots had been exchanged the union men retreated. County Judge Hall and Sheriff Hankins have asked Governor Beckham for troops. Warrants have issued for J. D. Woods, district president of the miners union, and others.

VOORHEES WARNED BY HOBOKEN ANARCHISTS

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 18.—Governor Voorhees today received a postal card marked Hoboken, N. J., which read as follows:

"You want to keep quiet and keep your detectives away from here or you will get what McKinley got. We are looking for your kind."

The card bore no signature. It is thought it came from anarchists at Hoboken, as state detectives and secret service men have been keeping a close watch on them since the shooting of President McKinley.

SONS OF VETERANS

Providence, R. I., Sept. 18.—The national encampment of the Sons of Veterans ended tonight. A report recommending a closer association with the G. A. R. was adopted.

Resolutions indorsing the Woman's Relief corps, the Ladies of the G. A. R., the Ladies Aid society and the Daughters of Veterans were adopted, as was also a resolution condemning anarchism and praying that laws be passed making an attempt on the life of the president a felony punishable with death.

These officers were unanimously elected:

Commander-in-Chief—E. R. Campbell, Washington, D. C.

Senior Vice President—S. S. Horr, Pennsylvania.

Junior Vice Commander-in-Chief—H. S. Thompson, Providence.

Counsel-in-Chief—J. B. Adams, Atlantic City, N. J.

C. J. Post, Grand Rapids, Mich., and E. F. Buck, Peoria, Ill.

JONES ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

New York, Sept. 18.—Charles F. Jones, the valet-secretary of William Marsh Rice, whom Jones said he had killed by administering chloroform, made two attempts last night to commit suicide. Jones first tried to cut his throat with the jagged neck of a large bottle which he had shattered for the purpose. Later he fastened his head between the uprights of his iron bedstead and tried to throw his body off the bed and thus break his neck. Both these attempts were frustrated by the police watching him. Since the hearing some months ago in the case of Lawyer Albert Patrick, in the course of which Jones made the statement that he killed Rice at the instance of Patrick, in order to obtain possession of the aged millionaire's property, he has been confined at a private sanitarium and carefully watched by police day and night. Jones had been feeling badly for several days and was subject to fits of melancholia.

RESCUED BY MILITIA.

Canton, Ohio, Sept. 18.—Much excitement was caused in the public square today while the people were assembled there to view the remains. Some one accused an Italian, who afterwards gave his name as Carmine Deviatro, of saying he would kill President Roosevelt. The man, who could speak hardly a word of English, became frightened and answered yes and no at random to the questions that were volleyed at him, invariably giving the wrong answer, and in a moment a great crowd had surrounded him and the cry of "Lynch him" was raised. Major Marquis, with a company of Ohio military, formed a hollow square and rescued the man, who was taken to police headquarters for his own protection. The police do not believe the man contemplated harm.

SUPPRESSING ANARCHISTS

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 18.—Several anarchists live here and the Chicago police a few days ago requested that they be watched. Today three men went into a trunk factory, dragged the proprietor Fred Young into the street and assaulted him. Young says he is a socialist and not an anarchist. His place is under police protection, and further violence is feared.

M. H. Tychenor, editor of the New Dispensation, a publication with anarchist tendencies has left the city on the advice of the police. Tonight in the center of the business quarter an anarchist effigy was hanged. It had cards on it saying "Death to Anarchy." Later it was burned before a great crowd.

LIVE STOCK ASSOCIATION.

Denver, Sept. 18.—The officials of the National Live Stock association have received word from Flagstaff, Ariz., that the National Wool Growers association in session there had appointed 25 delegates to the annual meeting of the former which will meet in Chicago on December 2. This is the first delegation this year to be appointed for this convention. Strong resolutions were also passed indorsing the policy of the national association.

CHICAGO FIRM ASSIGNED.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—The big Boston department store conducted by the Rosenthal & Lehman Dry Goods company made a general assignment in favor of its creditors today. Its liabilities to [illegible] creditors are given as $[illegible].

OUR PRESIDENT

Low lies our martyred hero. Toll, O bells,
Around the earth and say a man of men
Has gone from us; boom, cannon, once again
In that reverberating voice that tells
The waiting world a victor's fallen and swells
To farthest shores of time. Beyond our ken,
A great soul passes silently, as when
The orb of day sinks and the mountain dells
Are dark and still. Great God of nations, hear
A stricken people's prayer for one
Whom he did love so well and be Thou near
As she doth tread her thorny way alone.
Teach all, with that firm faith that knows no fear,
To say, "It is His way; God's will be done!"

COLOMBIA GENERAL LAYS BLAME ON CASTRO

Colon, Colombia, Sept. 18. Via Galveston, Tex.—General Alban, the commander-in-chief of the Colombian forces, in an interview today regarding the statement which Torres Cardenas, the foreign secretary of Venezuela, telegraphed to the Associated Press from Caracas on August 17, on behalf of President Castro, said:

"President Castro has published on different occasions statements declaring that Colombia has provoked the situation, now all but war, between the two republics. President Castro, who has several times set fire to our country, and sowed the seeds of revolution, now cries to the whole world, 'Voila, messieures. It is Colombia who desires to enter and burn my house. I have done nothing to her, although my soldiers entered her territory and thousands of my troops have been slain in battle while abetting her rebel cause. I have done nothing to her, though I gave them arms and money and newspapers in which to publish what they listed. I have done nothing to her, though it was I who summoned General Uribe-Uribe from the United States expressly for an invasion of her territory. It is not likely that his army, consisting of 1,500 troops, which I supplemented by men, arms and munitions of war when near the frontier and ready to penetrate into Colombia, met with signal defeat at the hands of forces under Rangel Garbiras. It was I who recently addressed the following telegram to the governor of the state of Zulia, which after having been found in a portfolio belonging to General Socalran, who was slain at the battle of Goagira, Colombia, is now triumphantly published. The telegram was:

"General Davala shortly leaves with a thousand men, ammunition, artillery and steamers and destined for Rio Hacha to reinforce the expedition under General Castillo.

"What harm, cries the innocent Castro, 'is there in all this?'" General Alban added:

"Colombia and her government have nothing to fear from the government of Venezuela, who are opposed to war and strongly condemn Castro's aggressive policy.

"The general asserts that the prisoners captured at the battle of Gogiara were all Venezuelans who said they had been torn from their homes and forced to fight against Colombia under penalty of being clubbed to death.

THE DUKE AND DUCHESS SPENT DAY IN MONTREAL

Montreal, Sept. 18.—The Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York journeyed from Quebec to Montreal today and were greeted with another affectionate demonstration from the people of Canada. They departed from Quebec at 9:30 o'clock in the morning and the last sound that fell upon their ears was a cheer from the people backed around the Canadian Pacific railway station. They had spent the night aboard the royal yacht Ophir and came ashore shortly after 9 o'clock. The special train provided for their long journey to the Pacific coast was in waiting and as soon as they were aboard it sped down the north shore of the St. Lawrence on the road to Montreal. The royal special was preceded by half an hour by another special train which carried Lord Minto, governor general, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier, and members of the Dominion cabinet.

The people came for miles to give a cheer or wave a flag at the fleeting train.

The welcome at Montreal, which was reached at 3 o'clock, was an ovation. Thousands of visitors had crowded into the city to reinforce the residents, and they all seemed to be massed in the neighborhood of Place Vigor station and the streets designated for the course of the royal couple to the house of Lord Strathcona, which had been placed at their disposal.

The party proceeded first to a beautifully decorated stand in front of the station, where, under a banner inscribed, "God prosper our united empire," Mayor Prefontaine read an address of welcome.

The duke, in reply, referred to his own two previous visits to the city and that of his father, King Edward, in 1860, and expressed his thanks for the kindly reception given him. At the conclusion of the address, 100 veterans of the South African war were called into the stand and presented with service medals. As the duke fastened each man his medal he briefly thanked him for his patriotism and valor. The crowds behind the long lines of troops cheered wildly as the rewarded soldiers filed from the stand. At the conclusion of the ceremony at the station the royal party were escorted to Bleak Carthage and under guard of a strong military detachment was driven to the home of Lord Strathcona.

The municipal reception, which was planned for tonight in honor of the duke and duchess was abandoned on account of the death of President McKinley, but the city was brilliantly illuminated and there was a torchlight procession and a display of fireworks.

As a further mark of respect to the American people in their mourning there will be no public functions tomorrow.

SIX PASSENGERS WERE KILLED IN A COLLISION

Brockton, Mass., Sept. 18.—A switch not properly set brought a passenger express and a heavy freight train together this afternoon with the resultant death of six passengers on the express train, and injuries to 25 others on the main line of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at Avon. The express left Boston at 1:03 p. m. and was running 40 miles an hour at the time of the accident. Of the six persons who were killed but four have been identified and these are:

Everett Joyce, Brockton.

Gustavus Hay, Jr., lawyer, of Boston.

Miss M. W. Tunkin, aged 18, a student at Howard seminary, Bridgewater, daughter of John Tunkin, a prominent citizen of Oil City, Pa.

William Coughlan Lowell, real estate dealer, Boston.

The two unidentified bodies are those of two women.

The accident occurred above the Avon station. The express was one minute behind time at Avon. A freight train of 30 cars laden with granite, coal and gravel had just been made up on a siding and was proceeding south in the same direction as the express. Engineer Sheldon, of the freight train, figured that he had four minutes to spare to get on a side track further down. One of his train crew had set the switch of a "cross over" in such a manner that when the freight was in it was turned on to the main track. Engineer Sheldon did not notice this switch quick enough to enable him to stop his train and before he realized it the express dashed past on the other track.

The engine of the express and the baggage car succeeded in getting by before the freight engine reached the train, but the second car of the train, the smoker, was struck squarely in the middle and turned over, being thrown down the steep embankment, landing on its side. The third car of the train, a passenger coach was dragged over by the force of the compact and likewise landed on its side in the ditch.

All those who were killed outright seemed to be in the third car, while most of those who were injured were in the car which was struck by the engine.

KENDRICK-TRESSLER

Denver Sept 18—One of the most beautiful weddings of the season was that of Miss Susie L. Tressler and Will S. Kendrick. The ceremony was performed and the reception which followed was held at the pretty little home of the groom's mother, Mrs. P. M. Kendrick, corner of Bard and Colo streets, late this afternoon. The groom is very popular in Colorado Springs. Every seasonable and many rare flowers were used in the decorations of the house and grounds which had been converted into a veritable fairy land by a corps of experienced decorators. Along the walks and about the front of the house were arranged palms and ferns in profusion. A myriad of Japanese lanterns of brilliant colors hung from the verandas and were suspended over the lawn on cords like beads on a Chinese necklace. The interior of the setting was a scene of rare colored buds and blossoms. Prof. Flood, a friend of the groom, played the bridal chorus as the bride and groom came down the broad staircase into the parlor. Two pretty little tots with flaring frocks of snowy white attended the bride. They were nieces of Mrs. Kendrick, Laura Kendrick of Silverton and Helen Barnett. The bride wore white chiffon over white taffeta. The trimmings were of duchesse lace. Rev. George Bedell Vosburgh of the First Baptist church performed the old fashioned ring service. Mrs. Kendrick and Miss Clara Barnett, the groom's mother and sister, both wore black. The party numbered about 30. Only relatives and intimate friends were invited. After the congratulations were received and the refreshments served the bride and groom started on a short wedding trip amid a shower of rice.

The bride came to Denver from Emporia, Kan., several years ago. She is a sister of Mrs. Wm. Rankin of 130 South Humboldt street.

The groom is a prominent mining man and is president of the Kendrick Promotion company. The couple will soon return and be at home to friends at 130 South Humboldt street.

A slight wreck on the Midland Terminal road last night delayed traffic on that line until this morning. On the stretch of track between the Portland mine and Independence station ten cars of a freight train got off the track and the track was badly torn up and several of the cars badly wrecked. Passengers on several of the trains had to be transferred over the wreck.

A meeting of physicians and other interested parties of this city tonight resulted in the organization of the Victor Hospital association. The purpose of the association is the erection of a modern hospital in this city. At the present time there is but one hospital in the district and that is in Cripple Creek. The Woods brothers and Jim Doyle with their usual generosity have donated a piece of valuable ground on South Fourth street between Portland and Spicer avenues. Stonaker, secretary of the state board of charities was present and delivered an address.

CANON CITY

Canon City Sept 18.—The best watermelons that have been for sale here this season have been home grown ones of the Rocky Ford variety and it is probable that Fremont county farmers will hereafter endeavor to grow a sufficient quantity to supply the home market.

There was a serious runaway between here and Cripple Creek last Thursday in which H. H. Beach and wife of Canon City with their daughter Mrs. Davis of Litchfield, Ill. met with serious injuries. The horses were somewhat spirited and in passing a heavy wagon at a narrow point in the road became excited and overturned the carriage throwing the occupants to the ground. Mr. Beach had his left shoulder broken. Mrs. Beach received a severe scalp wound and had several teeth knocked out. Mrs. Davis received a gash about two inches long on her head. The horses only ran a few rods and stopped the freighter had to run two miles for assistance and it was an hour or more before help came. Word was sent to this city and medical assistance was dispatched to the aid of the injured who are now recovering nicely. Mr. Beach is one of the owners of the toll road between here and Cripple Creek, also a half owner in the Canon City Opera house and is one of the oldest and most [illegible] citizens here.

Miss Florence Kirkpatrick, aged 18 years residing in South Canon, attempted suicide on Sunday afternoon. The girl had taken a room in the Barkhook and was accidentally discovered there in a dead stupor. Dr. Palmer was called and by hard work succeeded in restoring her to consciousness and she will probably recover.

Lyman Robinson went to Denver yesterday to remain until Saturday.

Mrs. T. M. Harling left yesterday for the east on an extended visit.

Major Peabody and wife and daughter have gone to Denver on a short visit. Miss Cora Peabody will attend school there this winter.

W. H. Dozier and Dr. Kellenbarger have left for a three weeks hunting trip down in Arkansas.

J. J. Cosgriff has returned from his eastern trip.

A misunderstanding has arisen between the local brick plants and the labor unions and as a consequence all building operations here are at a standstill. In the view of the general public it is a great pity that the present period of prosperity should be thus so broken into by what could probably be easily arranged by careful arbitration.

A very large quantity of apples are being shipped out of the state and city merchants are doubtful if enough are left here to supply the local demand.

PATHETIC SCENES AT LAST HOME COMING

low. At sight of it tears came unbidden and flowed freely.

When the casket had been consigned to the hearse three mounted trumpeters gave signal for the melancholy procession to move.

A moment later the sound of "Nearer My God to Thee" floated through the air as the Grand Army veterans with their band swung into line with their band and took up the march toward the court house through Fourth street and then to Cherry and Tuscarawas, the solemn pageant moved between solid masses of people banked from curb to store front, crowding the house tops and filling every window.

Turing into Market street, the main thoroughfare of the city, the procession moved under great curtains of mourning strung from building to building across the street every hundred feet. A majestically solemn spectacle was represented as the procession neared the public square in the center of the city. After the Grand Army came the Cleveland troop, in their brilliant uniforms of Austrian Hussars with tall bearskins shakos topped by pompons of white. At the hilt of every sword strand a long band of crepe and the tiny silk gulfer flag was topped with a long black streamer.

Immediately following the mounted troops came the hearse bearing its flag covered burden. This was the sight that sent a hush along the dense long lines of humanity stretching for a mile away to the court house. As the casket passed every head was bowed and every face evidenced the great personal grief which had come upon the community.

Immediately following the hearse came the carriage of President Roosevelt who rode with his brother in law Capt. Cowles of the navy, the latter in full uniform and Secretary Gage. After the carriages of the other members of the cabinet and those who had been near to the late president in public life marched the National Guard of Ohio. As the head of the procession reached the square of the city the military ranks swung about forming solid fronts facing the approaching hearse. As it was driven to the curb the bearers [illegible] alongside and again took up their burden. The casket was tenderly raised and borne up the wide store steps leading to the entrance of the court house. The strains of "Nearer My God to Thee" were still sounding as the flag draped coffin disappeared within the building.

President Roosevelt alighted from his carriage and took the arm of Secretary Gage. The other cabinet officers joined them at the curb and then two and two with uncovered heads they moved in solemn procession up the steps into the building. After them came the other public men who were on the train. Major General Brooke in the full uniform of his high rank marched at the head of the representatives of the army which included Major General Otis and Major General MacArthur. Among the conspicuous figures of the naval service were Rear Admiral Crowninshield, Rear Admiral O'Neil, Rear Admiral Kenney and Brigadier General Haywood commander of the marine corps.

With the notes of "Nearer My God to Thee" following them faintly through the doorway the body bearers bore the coffin into the rotunda of the court house a little before 1 o'clock. The walls and ceilings were hung with dead black, the crepe being gathered into folds at each corner of the rotunda. A single chandelier gave light additional to the dim rays that passed through the doorway. Beneath the cluster of electric lights stood the catafalque upon which the casket was to rest.

When everything was ready for the public to enter Joseph Saxton, uncle of Mrs. McKinley, an aged man bowed deeply with the weight of years, entered from the east hall and passed up to the casket. He stood for fully two minutes gazing into the face of his distinguished kinsman. He then passed slowly down the hall, his head bowed low, his lips twitching convulsively. Then the door was opened to the public.

Throughout the afternoon the human tide pressed steadily forward to the bier. Four abreast in double line without a moment's halt, the people hurried by the casket and then with tear stained faces passed out of the darkened chamber into the bright sunlight. In the line were those representing all stations in life, all creeds and climes. An old man bent and withered who had known Mother McKinley tottered up to gaze upon the silent features he was followed by a [illegible] of middle age who had gone to school with McKinley. All who came had some recollection or personal relation with the man lying there cold in death. Fathers brought their children and held them over the bier for a fleeting glance at the upturned face. A sleeping babe was aroused by its mother for a sight its little mind could not comprehend. Toilers came from the factories and dinner pails in hand stopped by the bier of him whom they called their benefactor and their friend. Now and then knots of school children hurried past awe struck at the gloom of this chamber of death. Often the guarding soldiers were compelled to step forward and gently restrain a hand that sought a bud from off the flower decked casket.

It was plain that a great flood of emotion was welling up in the hearts of these sorrowing people. Strong men made no concealment of their grief their tense faces and tearful eyes telling the sense of personal bereavement which had come upon them. Many women wept and during the afternoon one young girl gave way to her feelings by loud wails which echoed through the darkened corridors.

As the people hurried by they gave expression to suppressed exclamations of anguish at sight of the pinched face lying there in the coffin. It was not the face they had known so well and almost without exception the people turned away regretful that they had not retained in their minds that picture of manly vigor which they knew so well. Many of his nearest friends refrained from looking upon the face preferring to preserve the memory of him as in life.

Late in the afternoon an aged man leaning upon two crutches which he managed with difficulty appeared at the door through which the people were making their exit. He asked the sentry to allow him to enter and when the soldier refused saying he had received orders to allow nobody through that door the old man stood back the picture of woe. In a short time he again asked the young sentry in pleading tones to allow him to enter through the doorway, saying that in his feeble condition he was not able to stand in line which at that time was extending fully a mile from the entrance.

"I fought in his regiment during the war," he said, "and I just want to lay this flag on his coffin and then keep it as a reminder of the time I saw him last."

"Take it in," said the sentry, and the veteran hobbled into the hall. When he got inside he had more trouble and was compelled to explain his errand several times.

Finally the line passing the coffin was stopped long enough to allow the old man to step to its side for a glance into the coffin and to lay his tiny flag on its glass front. Then he turned back with the crowd hugging the now sanctified flag tightly beneath his coat. At one time a group of school girls approached the casket. There were six of them and they came three abreast. One in the forward row leaned over for a look and, gently disengaging from the bosom of her dress a scarlet geranium laid it gently on the top of the wreaths that were resting there. The others followed her example and although the sentries had orders to permit nobody to place anything upon the coffin or to touch the floral offerings that were already there the little tributes of the girls were allowed to remain and they were still on the top of the coffin when it was carried through the door on its way to McKinley's cottage on North Market street. All through the afternoon the crowd passed the catafalque approximately at the rate of 10 every minute making in the five hours in which the body lay in state a total of 30,000 people practically a number equal to the actual population of Canton. When the doors were closed at 6 o'clock the line four abreast, stretched fully one mile from the court house and people still were coming from the side streets to take their places in line.

At 6 o'clock the doors were closed to the public and preparations made for removing the body to the McKinley residence, seven squares from the court house.

Canton commandery of the G. A. R. acted as escort, and there was no following. Arrived at the house, the escort formed in line in the street presenting arms, while the coffin borne by the body bearers was taken [illegible] house. It was placed in the front [illegible] for where it will remain until [illegible] moved to the church tomorrow afternoon. SAW McKINLEY SHOT

Polin Returned From the East—Was in Buffalo When the President Was Shot.

E. J. Polin of the Polin Suit and Cloak company, South Tejon street returned yesterday from a trip to the East. While away Mr. Polin visited Cleveland, Syracuse, New York and Buffalo, being in the latter city when the president was shot. He visited the exposition and witnessed the tragedy.

In answer to questions by a representative Mr. Polin said: "When the president was shot the excitement was indescribable. Some thought he was killed, others that he was not, and everyone rushed here and there. Many screamed and others fainted. It all happened so quickly, and the crowd was so dense, that they had to carry the murderer away before people realized the enormity of the crime.

"The east certainly joins hands with the west in grief for the loss sustained by the nation.

"While away Mr. Polin purchased his fall and winter goods. His store is partially empty so that he had to fill it with new goods entirely. He bought every thing from the manufacturers and secured them at first hand. Among the goods he secured are the Zagora cloaks, something like the sealable cloaks, with lengths for people and those of medium size. An elegant line of furs and furry also suits and skirts. The goods are arriving and being marked by Mr. Polin will have a grand opening about the middle of October.

Something New.

He is going to give the Royal a strictly home-like and everything will be of the best and served in a scrupulously clean manner.

Stevens' coffee with "Johnny cake" will be served daily.

Mr. Stevens comes from Boulder where he has been in the restaurant business for some years and knows it thoroughly. Give the Royal a trial if you want a treat.

WOODMEN PUSHING THE BUILDING PROJECT

Rumors concerning a new and much larger building for the Woodmen of the World lodge have been in the air for some time and at the Woodmen meeting this week definite steps were taken toward the erection of a lodge building that will be sufficiently large to accommodate the present size of this prosperous organization.

The building will cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, divided into shares of $25 each. About $6,000 of this amount was subscribed this week. W. L. Dawson, W. W. Jackson and A. M. Andrew are on the building committee.

LADY HUNTWORTH'S EXPERIMENT

Daniel Frohman has managed theatrical stars and the leading dramatic companies of this country ever since he became a manager and some of the greatest names of the stage have been connected with his in the past dozen years. He first brought Mr. and Mrs. Kendal to this country, was Olga Nethersole's manager when she was new to America, directed the tours of Modjeska and introduced E. H. Sothern and Bertha Galland to the theatregoing public. And now Mr. Frohman is promoting Miss Hilda Spong, the beautiful actress who, supported by his stock company from Daly's theater, New York, comes to the Opera house next Monday evening.

This brilliant actress was formerly leading lady in the company mentioned, and so great was her success in R. C. Carton's comedy "Lady Huntworth's Experiment" during the long run of this play in New York that Mr. Frohman advanced her to the rank of a star. Miss Spong will be seen in his creation of Caroline Hayward, the vicar's cook, when "Lady Huntworth's Experiment" is presented here. The comedy has been mounted with Mr. Frohman's usual excellent taste and is finely costumed. Among the more important members of the company may be mentioned Arthur Forrest, Jameson Lee Finney, William F. Owen, Grant Stewart, William Courtleigh, Albert Bruning, Howson, Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, Beatrice Morgan and Nevada Heffron. Reserved seats are now on sale at Santa Fe ticket office. Prices of reserved seats $1 and $1.50.

MATHEWS & BULGER

Mathews & Bulger with Broadhurst & Currie's big musical comedy "The Night of the Fourth" will be seen at the Opera house on Saturday evening. There will be no chilliness about the audience; it will be chuckle, gurgle and snicker at the fin de siecle gags, and they will howl with glee at the new jests and clever business of the artists. It is a delightful company all through and the chorus is superb. Now everyone is familiar with the stereotyped promises of the press agent, but no press agent ever permitted himself to dream of anything half so entrancing as the clever work of the beautiful "Night of the Fourth" ballet with this company. There is not an unhappy girl among them; those acute portions of themselves that the dancing girls most display are the daintiest lot of underpinnings that have ever been shaken over the stage in a great many seasons.

"Nothing is so good but what it can be bettered," is always the watchful maxim of those clever farceurs, Mathews & Bulger, and thus stimulated, their supporting company is always on the alert to make use of every idea and every suggestion that will tend to improve.

The newspapers have been unstinted in their praise of the new piece. "The Night of the Fourth" and generally speak of it as a comedy in three explosions. It is a farcical extravaganza of the wildest kind, full of the brand of fun so excellently exploited by the Broadhurst & Currie company.

The San Francisco Evening Post gave a laudatory notice with the following black headlines: "The Only Farce Comedy Ever Seen With a Story and a Plot In the Hands of Clever Artists." The San Francisco Call says: "I see no reason why Mathews & Bulger should retire from business for the lack of a new piece as long as they have 'The Night of the Fourth.' They have produced many successful pieces during their engagement in San Francisco this summer, among them many of Hoyt's most successful conceits, but it remains for their last and tenth week to show us a rattling farce comedy with a story."

Tubler's Buckeye Pile Ointment is not a panacea, but is recommended for blind bleeding or protruding piles, and it will cure the most obstinate cases. Price, 50 cents in bottles. Tubes, 75 cents. Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co.

The American flag and crepe are used to much effect in other parts of the church.

The program was begun at 2 o'clock by singing by the children.

The remarks by Rev. W. E. Powell made a strong impression upon his hearers. He spoke of the two characters, William McKinley and Leon Czolgosz. The good in the one was put in striking contrast to the evil in the other. The character of William McKinley was portrayed as the model for the American youth.

The room was draped for the occasion and many of the children carried tiny flags.

If you suffer from acute disease, call your family physician. If you suffer from chronic disease, consult Dr. Ellison. The world's greatest living animal trainers, Norris & Rowe, will exhibit their Big Trained Animal shows in this city next Saturday afternoon and night, September 21, under their enormous waterproof tents which will be located on Huerfano street, south of the Antlers hotel. Performances will be given at 3 and 8 p. m. A new grand free spectacular street carnival and children's fairyland parade will be given on the morning of the exhibition at 11 o'clock, at which time the entire company of over 300 animal actors will be seen. Prominent among this season's special features are the greyhound tandem races; the five pony tandem races; chariot races; the wonderful performances of the smallest elephants in the world. This is beyond doubt the most marvelous elephant act ever introduced into tented amusements; Alexas, the only trained African zebra in the world, the wonderful performances and acts of the seventy beautiful shetland ponies, and the new and novel animal fire department. This is an act that you never saw before, it is absolutely new. A monkey, even in his native untrained state is a well-spring of fun to every man, woman and child. How much more so then, by the cunning art of man, they are taught to perform acts that are ludicrous in the extreme and tricks and antics whose provocation to laughter is irresistible. For comicality and diversity of absurd tricks the multitude of monkeys with the Norris & Rowe's shows are beyond the power of language to describe.

THE CLOSING SCENE.

IT SEEMS hardly possible to believe that it is yet less than two weeks since President McKinley was shot by an assassin at Buffalo. Events have crowded quickly upon each other in those 13 days. The shock of the announcement of the crime was followed by a revulsion of hope as the wires brought the news that there was a chance of life. With a confidence that has not yet been explained the bulletins told the story of improved conditions until we were assured upon the strength of some of the best medical authority in the country that the danger was past and that the president was out of danger. Then suddenly came the dread news of a change for the worse and soon the fatal announcement that death was inevitable and then the brief bulletin. The president is dead.

Then came the dramatic incident of the vice president's night ride through the Adirondack wilderness and the simple ceremony that transferred the greatest official power and responsibility in the world today to new hands. Then was the lying in state at Buffalo of the remains of the departed president, the official honors and ceremonies at the national capital, and the transfer of the precious earth to Canton.

There today will be enacted the final scene of this momentous drama. There will be laid to rest the mortal remains of William McKinley, and there, so long as this republic shall endure, loyal Americans will gather to add their tribute to the character and the services of President McKinley.

AN AWKWARD POSITION.

THE RESOLUTION passed by the majority of the city council on Monday evening was wise because it recognizes the principle that a competent and disinterested hydraulic engineer ought to be employed before any money is spent in improving the Seven Lakes reservoir site.

But the wisdom of this resolution only brings into more striking contrast the folly of the previous action of that council in voting for the purchase of the Seven Lakes without such an examination.

The council majority has taken the ground that it will buy the Seven Lakes, whether it is any good or not, and without regard to whether the people want it or not. After it is bought and the money is paid out, these councilmen are willing to employ an expert to examine it, and whether they are willing or not they will have to submit to the popular verdict upon their actions.

The council majority refuses to have an expert examine the property before the purchase is consummated.

The natural inference is that the council majority is afraid, or possibly expects, that the report of a disinterested expert would show that the property has not the value claimed for it.

The council majority refuses to submit the question of the bond issue to a vote of the people.

The natural inference is that the council majority has doubts whether the people would approve its action, or shows that it would not do so.

The council majority also passed a resolution on Monday night indorsing its own action in trying to buy the Seven Lakes and paying for them with bonds issued by the council without the approval of the taxpayers. The six aldermen are certainly to be congratulated upon this magnificent vindication which each of them has received from the other five.

The fight that the Gazette is making is a fight for sensible business methods in city affairs and the principle that the small taxpayer should be consulted and not ignored in increasing the city's indebtedness.

In the adoption of the resolution Tuesday night the council majority practically declared, "What we have done so far is all right, henceforth we will do differently." The Gazette thoroughly commends the second half of the declaration, but it cannot indorse the first part, and it was impossible for the minority members of the council, however much they may favor the future employment of an expert, to support the resolution in the shape in which it was presented.

The council majority ought at last to realize the folly of its present position and vote to secure an expert examination immediately and to submit the matter to a vote of the taxpayers before any bonds are voted.

The people may rest assured that the four members of the council who constitute the present minority will continue to stand by their interests and will do all that they can to secure the transaction of city business according to good business methods.

CHANGED SENTIMENT.

AT THE time of the assassination of King Humbert of Italy by an anarchist, representations were made from that government to this in regard to taking harsher measures for the suppression of the anarchists. But although the murderer of King Humbert went from this country on his deadly mission and was undoubtedly backed by a society of anarchists at Paterson, N. J., public sentiment in this country did not approve the concert of action that was requested.

We believed then that liberty itself would act upon anarchy as does sunshine on many deadly germs and that the liberty of our law was a better safeguard than the repressive measures of the police of Europe.

Now we think we have reason to believe differently. Possibly if the measures requested by the Italian government had been adopted, Czolgosz would not have had the opportunity to conceive and to execute his crime.

However that may be, public sentiment in the United States has undoubtedly changed, and there is now a strong feeling that international action against anarchy is as reasonable as international measures against cholera or the plague.

THE SILVER LINING.

NOTHING that can be said can in any way detract from the loss the nation has sustained in the removal of its loved and trusted president, and no word can lessen the blackness of the crime against this most innocent victim and against the nation.

But every great evil carries with it a train of blessings, and even this great calamity has its brighter side.

The American people is apt, possibly too apt, to regard itself as self-sufficient. We are inclined to look at other nations with the not-as-thou-art air, and to fancy that in our newer and freer civilization we have found a cure for the evils and a solution for the problems with which Europe has been beset. Within the past few weeks we have learned in a new way the truth that all men are brothers and that the evil that has its root in the festering soil of the old world monarchies may ripen its fatal fruit within our own boundaries. The newest of the great nations, as well as the older, is face to face with the problem of human degeneracy and must seek for its remedy.

Again, the American people is too much inclined to partisan strife, and too much inclined to indulge in bitter suspicions of the character and the motives of political opponents. President McKinley, like Lincoln and like Washington before him, has been the target for the most virulent condemnation not only of his acts but for the motives that prompted them. The events of the past few weeks have brought to many American minds a sense of shame and regret for words that have been spoken too often carelessly against one whom all now unite to honor. It would be well if the united grief of the nation might bring in its train a lessening of the bitterness of party strife and a larger sense of confidence in the integrity and good intentions of those with whom we differ in public affairs.

The strengthening of patriotism is another benefit that is already apparent. The attack upon the nation and upon its cherished principles must rouse the spirit of every true American and lead him to a firmer determination to defend the honor and the institutions of the republic at all hazards.

And better than all, if we learn our lesson aright, is the strengthening of our reverence for the law and our determination to uphold it at all times and under all circumstances. Anarchy aims at the destruction of all law and of all authority. Its deadly purpose is to overwhelm all that civilization has accomplished and to put mankind back to the primeval savagery where each man's hand was against his neighbor and individual strength was the only defense against the aggressions of the brutal and the fierce. The anarchist aims his blow at the president because he is the highest and most prominent embodiment of the law; he strikes at the people because they are the authors and the guardians of the law; he will die under the law he has outraged because the man who does not confess the merits of social organization is unworthy to share its benefits, and society cannot permit its deadly enemies to remain to perpetrate continued crimes against it. A higher reverence for the law is one of the great needs of the American people. It is evident in the spirit of law-breaking that is rampant in too many communities, in the ease with which criminals escape punishment for their misdeeds, in the tolerance with which society regards the evil doers, in the sympathy that is extended towards criminals and convicts, in the difficulty with which judges and juries are found to execute the plain provisions of law, and in the hideous outbreaks of mob violence in which the cloak of civilization appears torn from a form of barbarism and too often the innocent is tortured in place of the guilty.

Would that we might declare our belief that as a result of this dreadful manifestation of the horrors of anarchy, the American people will advance towards a greater regard for the law, and a more steadfast determination to enforce its provisions and to punish its violators according to the penalties and under the provisions of the law itself.

THE NEW CABINET.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S formal appointment of President McKinley's cabinet as his own is a matter of satisfaction to the entire country. It emphasizes in a strong way the purpose of the new president to continue the policy of the old, and it assures the country of wise and competent administration of the departments for the next three and a half years.

The cabinet officers of President McKinley were unanimously chosen for their willingness to follow blindly the orders of their master. Secretaries Hay, Gage, Root, Long and the others have been given a free hand and each one of them has left his mark in the history of the country.

It would be a difficult, if not an impossible, task for any president to find in the United States a set of men who are so thoroughly well qualified to carry on the work of the government in these lines.

The relation of the president to the members of his cabinet is a familiar and a personal one, and it was expected that Mr. Roosevelt would desire to choose for himself some of the secretaries upon whom will depend to so large an extent the success of his administration. That the new president has set his personal friendships and possibly his personal preferences aside for the benefit of the country is a fresh proof of his magnanimity and capacity for the responsible position he now occupies.

THE STATE FAIR.

THE STATE FAIR at Pueblo begins next Monday, and the preparations that have been made insure a very satisfactory display of the resources and progress of the state, together with sufficient amusements to make the occasion a lively one and to satisfy the wishes of all who will go rather for a good time than to study what the state is doing.

The prevailing conditions in the state are now much more favorable than they have been for many years past, and the state fair ought to, and undoubtedly will, be an indication of the improved conditions, and for this reason it will be worth the special attention of every resident of the state.

The people of Colorado Springs and of El Paso county have, moreover, a special reason for wishing well to the Pueblo state fair and doing everything in their power to make it a success. The people of Pueblo contributed in a very important degree to the success of our Quarto-centennial exhibition, and later, on Labor day they joined with us to give a celebration that was greatly beyond anything of the kind ever held in this city.

Colorado Springs now has the opportunity to return the compliment. Every resident of this city who can do so should visit Pueblo next week, and whoever does so will be amply repaid for the effort, whether he goes for instruction, pleasure or as a matter of favor to our good friends in Pueblo.

It is in such times as these that we learn that, in spite of political differences we are all one people, with admiration and honor for the noble American, whoever he may be, and lamenting together the national loss.

It is fitting that the republics of Central and South America should join in the sorrow for the death of a president who was so earnest in promoting their welfare.

TO THE MEMORY OF THE LATE PRESIDENT.

(Written for the Gazette.)

Good precedents he did create,
And, better, followed them. The Ship of State
Her course held straight. His guiding hand
Hath kept her rudder true. Our mighty land,
Her fate, his high prerogative to change,
A future far beyond the ruling
Of human ken, his statesmanship mature
To lead to Posterity assured.
"Place doth show the man" with dignity sublime
Exalted office honored and in the trenchant time
Of trial and of doubt he wisely led.
"The good man do is oft interred," the poet said;
Not so with him—none now deny their page,
Nor quote the ancient saying of the sage,
"He was a man who could but never willed."
Fault-findings, malice, envy, all are stilled.
A sacred memory his, since he was consecrate
The shining mark for devil-incarnate.
Though no more for him the measured hours—
Though for his Country now no more his powers;
His noble work remains; in his pure life he shone.
We reverently submit—the Creator's will be done.

—Frank Donaldson, M. D.

THE NATION'S REQUIEM.

The clocks are striking the morning hour,
And the city is peacefully sleeping;
The sentinel stars from their windows high,
Their quiet watch are keeping.
But hark! a sound rends the silent night—
The bells are solemnly tolling!
And into startled human hearts
Their echoes are mournfully rolling.

They are ringing the knell of a radiant life,
That has just from the earth departed;
A loving household is wrapped in gloom,
And a nation is broken-hearted!
The Angel of Death has entered our home,
And the land to its center is shaking;
A wail of bitter sorrow is wrung
From hearts that in grief are awaking.

The nation's father has passed from earth,
And his desolate children are weeping;
But he heeds not the cry of their anguished hearts,
For in death's calm repose he is sleeping.
A country mourns a steadfast friend,
And tender ties are broken;
A brave, true wife is crushed to earth,
With a grief too deep to be spoken.

For weary days a people's hopes
To their stricken Chief have been clinging,
And a nation's prayer ascended to God,
To avert the fate he was bringing.
But the adamantine Gates of Doom
On their hinges were slowly turning;
And the lesson He teaches to humble our hearts,
We are sadly, and painfully learning.

Oh! let us bow to His holy will,
Though our homes are draped in mourning;
Let us turn to our God, and repent our sins,
Our hearts, and our lives reforming.
And peace shall dwell within our walls,
A blessing come from the Giver,
And righteousness which a nation exalts,
Shall flow down our streets as a river.

And let it be a people's boast,
That a Leader great it is mourning;
One who honored the Master's name—
A lofty station adorning;
He has left a noble record on earth,
And his memory we'll sacredly cherish;
From the glorious roll of Heroic Dead,
His name shall never perish.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

Who Is Responsible?

To the Editor of the Gazette:

I noticed a piece in Sunday's Gazette headed "Why Not the Child?"

I am a mother of three boys, but must admit that it is the parents alone who are responsible for there being no place for the children.

If the parents would give their children the right training, and instill the right principles into their minds, I do not think they would be so objectionable as tenants or companions.

I have lived in rented property and never had an objection made to my children, as I never allowed them to cultivate the disposition to destroy.

Fifty per cent of the mothers today do not care where their children are or what they are doing so long as they do not bother them, or interfere with their work or pleasure.

Look at the girls and boys who run the streets nearly every minute they are out of school.

Why are they not in their own homes or their own yards, where their mothers eye can watch over them? That is where they belong, but it is "too much trouble."

What will become of the next generation if a halt is not called to the boys and girls running wild on the streets.

O where are the mothers of old, who taught their little ones modesty and love? Are there none left?

God grant there may soon be a law of reform for the mothers. M. J. J.

The Intellectual Impress of Yale and Harvard.

The highest compliment that can be paid Yale university, which celebrates her bi-centennial in October, is to state that she is a daughter of Harvard. The finest encomium upon Harvard university is that she is the mother of Yale.

It is true of both that they represent, in American social and intellectual life, the same forces that enabled Oxford and Cambridge to create a newer England out of the materialistic old. Who can measure that influence? Not all the jubilee speeches or tributes of her sons, in the October celebration, will tell the whole story of Yale—of the uplift she has given to the tastes of the people, the diction she has thrown about the platform and the pulpit, the power she has imparted to independent thought, the grace to letters, the soul to patriotism, the fitness to those who have carried her colors to the great heights of fame.

Nor can the brilliant lives or the immortal utterances of fair Harvard's sons tell all that America has gained since their alma mater opened the arts and sciences—the gates of culture—to the new world.

Separately, the two were founded by christian clergymen, which is significant of the source of the best in our civilization; together, they have emancipated the people from the chains and the cruel ties of narrow-mindedness and rough colonial environments. They have done more than this: they have given to the American intellect a power and finish it could have received from no other source. This service has been performed through an army of forty thousand graduates, twenty-five thousand of whom studied at Harvard and fifteen thousand at Yale, who spread over this fair land and quickened every part with their magnetic presence, giving to every profession the momentum of educated endeavor, and, to hundreds of newer colleges, the spirit of the old. As compared with the sword, which gave us liberty, or the printing-press, which diffused popular intelligence, or the implements which harnessed restive Nature and won her domain for utilitarian purposes, this service was the greatest of all. It antedated our battles for freedom and our greatest inventions, and made all things possible for later America.—(Cyrus Patterson Jones in the September Success.

Heavy Business of Antlers Necessitates Erection of Cottages--Hotel Company's Strip on Huerfano St. to Be Used.

The first season's business of the Antlers [illegible] expectation and an addition to the hotel will be built in time to accommodate next season's tourists.

The contemplated addition is not to the hotel proper. Several large brick cottages will be built on the south side of the Antlers park. The square of land just north of the park and north of the Park place will be parked and a large two story brick apartment house will be erected here. This will be occupied by the employes of the hotel. At present many of them occupy rooms in the Antlers. The cottages it is thought will be very popular with families and house parties who desire to remain all season. They will combine the comforts of modern life and the freedom from responsibility which is the charm of hotel life. The buildings will be thoroughly furnished on a scale to accord with the elegance of the Antlers. The cottagers will dine with the hotel and receive all the benefits of hotel service.

"We turned hundreds of people away this summer and could easily have occupied half again as many rooms," said Mr. Dunning, clerk of the Antlers, last night. "The success of the first season has justified us in estimating even a larger number of tourists for next summer and we are prepared to accommodate them. To this end these improvements will be made.

The dullness of a mid season has affected the hotel business for the past week or two to the extent that fully one third of the business has fallen off and in some instances over a half. The beginning of fall sees the departure of the tourists and the winter season does not begin until the cold winds begin blustering in the north and east.

Judge Smith Died Yesterday Afternoon

Judge E. V. Smith who accidentally shot himself Tuesday morning died yesterday at 2 o'clock at his residence near Wilfield. Funeral arrangements are not perfected yet but it is known that they will be held at the family residence on Friday and it is probable that the Masons will be in charge of them. Judge Smith was a charter member of the Masonic lodge here and has always stood high in that organization.

The accident which caused his death occurred Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. Judge Smith was carrying a .38 calibre revolver that evidently was half cocked as the judge later stated to friends. It went off, the ball penetrating his breast and coming out in the back. For a while it was not thought that the accident would be fatal but the age of the patient militated against his recovery.

A woman was seized with a fit last evening in a Spruce street car while it leaves Pikes Peak avenue at 7:30 o'clock. While she was in the fit which lasted about ten minutes there was a lively scene until the car.

At Institute street a well dressed lady accompanied by a gentleman boarded car No. 18 of the Rapid Transit company. Motorman George Furstrom had hardly started the car when the woman began to froth at the mouth and the gentleman soon had great difficulty in holding the woman. Some of the passengers who had never seen a person in such a condition were much nerved up over the occurrence.

When the car reached Nevada avenue the woman had recovered sufficiently to walk and she was soon lost in the darkness.

ON THE LEGAL TENDER

New Ore House and Equipment Will Be Ready October 1--Shipment From the Clark Lease on the Pharmacist.

Special to the Gazette

Cripple Creek, Sept 18—A new ore house and necessary equipment for shipping from the Legal Tender shaft of the Golden Cycle company will be in readiness by October 1 or a few days earlier. No rich ore has been broken in the ninth level of the mine to keep ore sorters busy for some time to come after that date. The development work that has been accomplished since the hoist resumed operations has been very satisfactory in its results. In the ninth level of the property there are thousands of tons of ore ready for shipment the station at this depth 700 feet from the surface has been enlarged to receive the pumping apparatus which has been in operation at the seventh level A small flow of water is hoisted to the tunnel level 200 feet from the surface. There is also room at the ninth level station for a hoisting plant which will be operated by electricity and can be put into position without interfering with the regular work in the other parts of the mine. Prospecting was begun on the eighth level but as it had not proceeded far before a new ore shoot was opened the company stopped work here not having room for the ore which could be broken from this vein. On the fourth level the cross cut has been extended to the Lee Bella vein which was found to be in improved condition in comparison with the upper level. Work was commenced today on the rebuilding of the winding machine and this should be completed within a week or ten days.

Mitchell & Franklin lessees on the main workings of the Pharmacist have their shaft down to a depth of 600 feet on the way to the 700 foot depth where the next station will be cut and the level run on the Pharmacist Burns vein.

A shipment of 35 tons of ore averaging about $100 in gold to the ton was sent out yesterday from the Clark lease on the Burns of the Acacia company. The ore is from the 500 foot depth where the shoot has been opened for a distance of 5 feet. The lessees are doing considerable prospecting at the 300 foot level and will probably extend the drifts at the 400-foot level depending on the showing made above.

The Woods Investment company reports that the ore in the Gold Coin 1000 foot level is looking especially well and even better than it is in the upper levels. For the best part of the present shipments are coming from. The development work at this depth has just fairly begun and if the ore continues to improve the 1100 foot level should make a wonderful showing.

An increase is being made in the production from the Mabel M company's property on the east slope of Beacon hill the third and fourth levels showing better ore than they have previously done. Development below the 365 foot depth has been retarded but the company has profited greatly by what carried on in all of the upper levels. The average grade of the ore shows a slight but steady improvement with depth.

NEW STRIKE ON DANTE GROUND

Sub Lessees on the South End of the Claim Open a Three foot Vein on the Surface Which Runs Between One and Two Ounces.

A promising strike was made yesterday on the south end of the Dante claim in the course of some trenching work which is being done by the sub lessees working there. They have opened a three foot vein which is as well defined as could be wished and assays are obtained from it right at the surface that indicate values of between one and two ounces in gold to the ton. The present indications are that it is the most important development ever made on this end of the claim and the best strike which has been made on the company's property in some months. The lessees will make arrangements to follow the ore down as soon as possible and are very sanguine of results.

The whole Dante property is in a fairly active condition at the present time although no regular shipments are being maintained by any of the lessees. In the fourth level a good ore body is being developed which averaging in ratio is and the lessees operating the Chase Slave block from the Gold Sovereign shaft are meeting with good results and are marketing a small amount of $30 ore.

THE PORTLAND'S SECOND MILL

Will Be Started as Soon as the First Is Completed and Tested---The Two Units Will Give a Capacity of 600 Tons.

The Portland Gold Mining company is awaiting only the completion and testing of the chlorination mill which is in progress of erection near this city before letting contracts for the erection of an exact duplicate. President Burns stated yesterday that only such a delay as was necessary to determine what machinery needed to be altered or perfected would intervene before the construction of the second mill would begin. It is not anticipated that any of the machinery outside of the roasters will require any perfecting.

The mill which is now going up is to have a capacity for treating 300 tons daily, and the second one will have the same capacity. The site has already been selected alongside of the present mill and when both are completed they will stand as one mill although there will be two separate units. The two units will be able to treat 600 tons a month and there is little doubt but that amount can easily be supplied from the low grade ore bodies of the mine at a great profit to the company.

The construction of the first unit has been greatly delayed owing to the steel strike in the east. The entire building is to be built of steel and the trust has been unable to furnish the large amount required. The machinery has been mounted already and the walls are now going up. When the building is roofed over it will be practically ready to begin operations but it is not known when it can be completed. The delay has been a great annoyance to the management which hoped at the beginning of the year to have the mill completed by the first of June but it has been unavoidable and a large part of the Portland output which has been increased in the past month or two which would otherwise have to be sent to the company's own mills must perforce be sent to the custom plants.

The great showing made by this mine at present is doing more to advertise the Cripple Creek district than all the other developments combined. The property is looking great in so many places that nothing less than the celebrated annual report can do it justice and the production is greater than ever before in its history.

RAVEN CONS. GRANTS A LEASE

To Oscar Dole on Its Little Emma Claim, Situated on Mineral Hill ---The Company Was Organized Last Winter

The directors of the Raven Consolidated company granted a lease yesterday on their Little Emma claim to Oscar Dole. The lease covers the entire claim and stipulates for 15 per cent flat royalty on all ore shipped. It is made out for a term of two years and requires that 50 shifts be performed each month.

The Little Emma claim is located on Mineral hill in a vicinity which has been active at different times and where there is more interest being taken now than for some months. The Raven Consolidated company was organized last winter but this is the first work which the company has ever undertaken on the property.

Mr Dole will start work at once and do a considerable amount of sinking on the claim. He has not yet decided whether to utilize the shaft now which has been started on the property or to begin a new one. He expects to conduct some exploration previous to starting regular work and very possibly may find a lead which he desires to follow down in a new shaft.

The company is a promotion of the firm of W A Otis and company of this city and is prepared to do some work [illegible] this warrant.

SECOND WELL ENCOUNTERED

Mr A C Munson president of the Munson Investment Co of this city received a telegram from California stating that a second flow of oil had been encountered on the property of the Colorado and California Oil and Fuel Co.

The flow which has been struck was encountered at a depth of [illegible] feet from the surface. The full capacity is not yet known and will not be determined until a depth of about [illegible] feet is reached when the most copious oil stratum is located. The first well on this property was struck several months ago at a distance of about 600 feet from this latest discovery and was encountered at a depth of 700 feet. The first well was good for over 1000 barrels a day and it is expected that the new one recently drilled will give even a greater flow than this.

Mr McIntosh who is on the ground reports that work is proceeding rapidly the same being done by contract and that in a comparatively short time the full capacity of the new well will be known.

MINING NOTES AROUND TOWN

There will be no session of the Colorado Springs Mining Stock exchange today the adjournment having been taken out of respect to the memory of President McKinley—In addition to the closing of the exchange practically all of the brokerage houses throughout the city will also be closed and mining business will be practically at a standstill a tribute which all mining men are only too willing to make to the lamented chief executive.

TWO NEBRASKA MEN MADE CENTRAL CONS DIRECTORS

A change has just been effected in the board of directors of the Central Consolidated company which will allow two Nebraska men who have lately become quite heavily interested in the stock to have a voice in the management of the company's affairs. The installation of these men as directors was effected by the resignation of M F Stark and H C Morse from the directorate. They will be supplanted by Thomas Killen and W J Hain. Mr Stark however will still be retained as the general manager of the company while Mr Morse will still act in his accustomed capacity of secretary. The Nebraska stockholders are very much pleased with the showing which the property is making.

GOLDEN CYCLE WILL PARTIALLY RESUME

The stock of the Golden Cycle company has been strong on the exchange by the last few days because as stated in the market letters the company will probably begin to produce ore again in October. By that time it is the hight that the company will have two of the machines completed so that a production of between 50 and 75 tons a day can be made at the start and gradually increased as more of the machines are completed. The improvements on the property are progressing at a good rate now and when they are done the company will have an equipment far superior to [illegible] and will be able to permit of an immense production. Great bodies of ore have been blocked out and it is understood that by the end of the year there will be few mines in the district producing a greater tonnage.

SINKING RESUMED BY WHIPPONISABELLA

Sinking has been resumed by Frank Whipp leasing on a block of the Emma claim of the Isabella Gold Mining company. A stop was made long enough to do a little lateral exploration and take some ore out for shipment which however has not yet been heard from. The shaft will be put down as rapidly as possible. The showing is exceedingly encouraging bearing out the good luck which has always favored Mr Whipp in his leasing enterprises in different portions of the camp.

DRIFTING STARTED ON THE COMSTOCK CLAIM

Lessee Fisher operating a block of the Comstock claim of the Solitaire company has started drifting at a depth of [illegible] feet from the surface. It was his original intention to put the shaft down a depth of 100 feet before starting any lateral work but the showing was so favorable that he decided otherwise. There is four feet of quartz showing which assays from a trace to $[illegible] gold to the ton and a shipment of [illegible] tons has just been sent which it is thought will run between $30 and $40. It is thought that values will grow more buoyant as drifting progresses. On the other block S Hellis is sinking a shaft to a depth of 600 feet. The claim is being developed in a most workmanlike manner.

EXODUS TO A NEVADA GOLD AND SILVER CAMP

A great many prospectors are leaving the Cripple Creek district for more virgin fields and the present point of interest is the Tonopah gold and silver mining district in Nye county, Nevada. The camp is some 60 miles from the railway point Sodaville but the showing is so remarkable that it seems likely that a railway will go into the district. The deepest shaft is reported to be only 125 feet down and yet from its surface workings $300,000 worth of ore has been produced. The quartz runs all the way from $20 per ton up that figure representing about the lowest values which are now commercial owing to the long haul and smelter charges. The new Owens Los Angeles road will lessen the haul to some degree and it is thought that great opportunities are offered to those who go in now.

SHIPMENT FROM THE GOLD SOVEREIGN

A shipment was closed the first of the week from the Mabel and Dauney lease on the main workings of the Gold Sovereign property on Bull hill. It consisted of 16 tons of ore which it is estimated will return values of $30 in gold to the ton. The ore is coming from the 400 foot level where the shoot has been opened for some distance but its variable values makes it impossible to send out shipments with any great frequency and a clean up is generally accomplished once in a fortnight. The lessees are hoping that the shoot will strengthen as work progresses.

WHITE CITY CLAIMS BONDED FOR $150,000

The White City Gold Mining company, owning the White City and Friday claims on Tenderfoot hill have just granted a bond and lease on their two claims to local and eastern investors the amount of the bond having been fixed at $150,000. The lessees are to start work in the near future and are understood to have an ample backing of capital so that they can prosecute [illegible] The Friday claim has shown some very good ore at different times, but neither of the properties which include some 18 acres of ground have been the object of very extensive development work and the location is favorable. The stock of the company [illegible] little of it finding its way to open market. Thomas C Bradford of Cripple Creek and Warren Seymour of Denver [illegible]

ANOTHER STRIKE FOR THE FREE COINAGE

Still another strike is reported from the property of the Free Coinage company this time on the Wilson claim a portion of which is under lease to Magill and associates. At a depth of 250 feet from the surface they have exposed a drift of good vein and now have the breast in two feet of ore which is sampling between $300 and $400 in gold to the ton. It is thought that the entire width of the vein can be broken down to yield $100 in gold to the ton. The development is one of the best of those which have taken place in company or lease workings during the past few months. The strike on the Pinto claim is holding out satisfactorily and the lessees are preparing to make a big production.

THE COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

Colorado Springs, Sept. 18.—The market on the local mining stock exchange opened with interest very lax and dull. There were few features in any quarter, but in the afternoon the trading quickened to a certain degree, and Isabella developed strength which furnished the sole interest on the call. The price of this stock rose at 55 and did not stop until it had been reached, and the market has been strong. No explanation of the improvement is at hand. It is true that the mine is in such a condition that important developments may occur at any time, but if any of these developments are imminent it is not known. El Paso and Gold Dollar, the two stocks which are spoken of in the same breath are lacking to the fact that these days owing to the fact that El Paso is supposed to be at the bottom of their activity and foundation, were again good traders. El Paso showed strength, recovering to 55¾, but Doctor sold down from 57 to 55½ and Gold Dollar settled to 19 under heavy selling. If there be a syndicate, it may be that they are also dealing in Isabella as those shares are dividing the other three in manipulating surprising ups and downs. The general market was fairly lively in the afternoon, due probably to the fact that all business which had to be transacted before Friday would not have an opportunity of being got out of the way tomorrow, when there will be no session of the exchange held. The prospects stocks furnished almost no items of interest. In fact the market is almost entirely confined to these four stocks which are mentioned previously in this letter.

SOAP DIGNITY.

IT IS easy to find a pure soap; it is easy to find a cheap one. The problem is to find both combined; a soap that is pure yet inexpensive. Ivory Soap is the best solution of that problem. It is an original product, evolved after years of experiment and research. It is the most of pure soap for the least money. It stands approved to-day by a second generation of Ivory Soap users.

$4,000 Worth of Diamonds in a Curtain

Colorado Springs has another diamond mystery to add to the several that have taken the attention of the police during the season past. This one is the largest of all, involving diamonds to the value of $4,000, but it is different from all the rest in the important particular that it was cleared up before it was reported to the police.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Young occupied the house at 130 North Weber street for some time prior to three weeks ago, when the death of Mrs. Young occurred. She was the owner of a considerable amount of personal property, among which was jewelry and diamonds to the value of $4,000. After her death Mr. Young was unable to find the jewels and suspected that they had been stolen by some one who had been about the house during the illness of his wife. It was impossible to fasten suspicion on any particular person, however, and up to a day or two ago there was no clew either to the supposed thief or to the property.

Several days ago, however, Mrs. Standring, who lives next door to the house formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Young, was making an examination of the Young house at the request of Mr. Young when she came upon a find. She noticed a bunched place in the bottom of a portiere and investigated. She discovered that sewed up within the folds of a curtain there was a small chamois skin bag in which were all the missing jewels and diamonds. She turned the property over to Mr. Young who promptly rewarded her with a check for $100, and one or two presents that are of considerable value.

Mr. Young is now at the El Paso club.

The loss of the diamonds was never reported to the police.

Woman's Relief Corps Passed Resolutions

The following resolutions have been passed by the Woman's Relief corps of this city regarding the death of President McKinley:

"Resolved, That we, the Colorado Springs Woman's Relief corps, No. 4, auxiliary to Post 22, of the Grand Army of the Republic, desire to express our grief at the awful crime that has been committed against our beloved nation, and abhorrence of the cowardly deed that has deprived the republic of [illegible] our condemnation of the principles leading up to such results in a free and Christian government.

"Resolved, That we, a body of American women, would give all honor to the great man and soldier, who was so true a type of an American gentleman as proved by his faithful devotion to the wife of his youth, and again demonstrating to the world what has often been said before, that the truest and best husbands are Americans.

"And be it further resolved, That our hearts go out in tenderness sympathy to the stricken wife in this her bereavement affliction.

[illegible] Committee on Resolutions."

Episcopal Delegates Will Visit Here

On the westward itinerary of the delegates to the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, in San Francisco, a visit of two days will be made in Colorado Springs. There are about one thousand delegates to this convention from all parts of the United States, but just what proportion of this number will stop here is not known. Accommodations for two hundred have already been made at the Antlers, but more than this number is expected.

They will arrive here over the Rio Grande from Denver Monday night at [illegible] Wednesday here. Trips will be made to Pike's Peak, the Garden of the Gods, Cripple Creek and other points of interest. There will be a local committee of Episcopalians to entertain the delegates while here, and possibly social entertainment will be provided by groups of members of the church. The delegation will leave here on Wednesday [illegible] journey will be made via the Southern Pacific through El Paso, New Orleans and along the coast.

CHINESE EXPIATORY COMMISSION.

WANTED: A GIRL

FOR EL PASO'S MAID OF HONOR AT DENVER'S FESTIVAL.

The County Commissioners are Perplexed and Seek Advice From the Public.

The county commissioners are sorely perplexed over a problem that neither their wit nor wisdom will help to solve. The county attorney, too, refuses to extricate them from their dilemma, and their only recourse is to the big-hearted public. The public is always willing enough to assume responsibilities that would staggER the ordinary mortal and there is an opportunity for it to immolate itself upon the altar of public good.

The problem is, who shall represent El Paso county as maid to the Queen of the Mountain and Plain Festival? Anyone wishing to lighten the burdens of the honorable commissioners will confer a lasting favor upon them by suggesting the name of some one of the pretty girls of Colorado Springs who will fitly represent the county at this event.

From the list of names submitted a decision will be made some time next week.

CURE FOR ASTHMA

Discovery of a Leadville Physician—Public Test Will Be Made at Colorado Springs Today.

All day today free sample packages of the celebrated Schiffmann's Asthma Cure will be given away at The Colorado Springs Drug Co., 101 S. Tejon street.

The doctor wants every sufferer from asthma, hay fever or bronchitis in this city to call and get one. When asked regarding his reason for giving his remedy away in this manner he said: "People are naturally skeptical about an asthma remedy and when you consider the number of so-called 'cures' on the market [illegible] them. Now I believe that my cure will instantly relieve the most violent attack. It has permanently cured thousands and I want to cure every sufferer. I do not believe in why should I be giving it away? The sufferer who gets a sample package can tell, in two minutes whether it is as represented or not and it does not cost him a cent. Then is fair, isn't it?

"It certainly does not look as if anything could be fairer. Those living out of town can get a free sample by writing and enclosing a 2c stamp to Dr. R. Schiffmann, 330 Jackson street, St. Paul, Minn., up to Sept. 23d, not later.

LOUISIANA SHOOTING.

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 18.—Dr. John W. McKown of Clinton, La., was shot and killed by State Senator R. Emerson Thompson of East Feliciana parish. Some time ago Thompson was arrested at the instance of McKown for the alleged stealing of the fencing between Thompson's place and the plantation of Mrs. Pipes, the sister of McKown, and this caused a bitter enmity. The two men met today in the public road. Thompson asserts that McKown assaulted him, and that he shot McKown in self defense. Thompson surrendered.

CRUISER ASHORE.

Quebec, Sept. 18.—Two English frigates, the Indefatigable and Psyche, left for Montreal this morning and when about eight miles up the river the Indefatigable, which is a second-class cruiser of 5,000 tons, ran ashore. After four hours' work she was hauled off and returned to port in a leaking condition. She will be docked for survey.

SUGAR STOCK.

New York, Sept. 18.—At a meeting of the American Sugar Refining company in Jersey City today the directors were authorized to cancel the $10,000,000 mortgage bonds created when the company was organized, but which were never issued and to issue $15,000,000 additional stock. The new stock will be half common and half preferred and the stockholders of each class will have the privilege of subscribing at par to the new stock at the rate of one share of new stock for every share of old stock.

COMMENT ON ROOSEVELT.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 18.—The Rossiya today says:

"President Roosevelt is a genuine fanatic for imperialism and Pan-Americanism. He will go to South all President McKinley's accomplishments in foreign policy. With President Roosevelt will begin an era of Panamericanism."

After quoting an inaccurate version of President Roosevelt's last speech the Rossiya declares that the Germans will be taught that the Monroe doctrine is no joke and that the United States is supreme throughout America.

England's Handicaps.

While the London newspapers and reviews keep up their doleful discussion of British decadence, everything that the visitor can discover gives the practical lie to gloomy forebodings. England's chief need is the courage to get rid of useless and harmful surviving and anomalies. Agriculture suffers not so much from American competition as from the wretched land system of the country. The army suffers from the system under which the officers' commissions go to incompetent scions of an absurd aristocracy. Education suffers through the unprofitable controversy between the Established church and the friends of the secular public school system. Progress in almost every direction suffers through the obstructive nature of the house of lords, with its hereditary power to veto the measures passed by the people's representative in the house of commons. Progress in many directions is checked through the false ideals that prevail under a monarchical regime. In a land where the average intelligence is low, monarchy may serve a useful purpose. Where it is high, as in England, the institution has a detrimental effect upon character. At a time when questions of deep national moment ought to have had frank consideration, the houses of parliament have been frittering away their time in silly discussions of the form of the oath which King Edward must take on occasion of his coronation, and, further, as to changes in his title.—(From the "Progress of the World," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for September.

A NEW THIRD PARTY IS FORMALLY LAUNCHED

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 18.—The delegates representing seven political parties of reform who came here to the "Allied Third party conference," held their session tonight, after two days of separate meetings, behind closed doors. All of the preliminary work of launching the new political party, which is to be a union of all reform parties, was done by the conference committee of the several delegations before the delegates met in joint session tonight. It was decided that the new party is to be called the "Allied party."

The platform accepted by the different elements and which will be adopted by the conference retains the initiative and referendum and public ownership of public utilities; declares against land speculation and alien ownership; favors flexible money, based upon the entire wealth of the nation, and not redeemable in any specific commodity, but to be full legal tender for all debts, to be issued by the government only, without the intervention of banks, in sufficient quantities to meet the requirements of commerce; demands just and natural taxation and the election of president, vice president, federal judges and senators by the people; favors the establishment of postal savings banks, and favors such legislation as may be necessary to enact the above laws.

The purpose of the joint session tonight was to decide upon the time and place to hold the convention which will meet to ratify the actions of this conference and perfect the permanent organization of the new party.

The conference was called to order tonight by C. P. Cook of Carthage, Mo.

Dr. J. E. Chambers was elected temporary chairman of the conference.

The temporary organization was made permanent and a committee of five, consisting of one fusion, one Populist, two Middle-of-the-Road Populists and two members of the Public Ownership party, was appointed to prepare an address to the public outlining the principles and purposes of this reform party.

At 12:30 a. m. the convention was still in session. A national executive committee has been appointed and a committee of three named to draft resolutions on the death of President McKinley. The choice of the convention city lies between St. Louis and Dallas. Today (Thursday) the delegates will hold a McKinley memorial.

The conference this morning selected Jo. A. Parker of Louisville, Ky., J. H. Cook of Carthage, Mo., and Dr. J. E. Chambers of St. Louis as its national executive committee.

The national convention will be held at Louisville, Ky., April 2, 1902.

The conference adjourned at 1:15 a. m. to meet again at 10 a. m. for memorial services.

Des Moines, Sept. 18.—The closing game of the season was a sort of a farce comedy and neither team seemed to care whether it was won or lost. The visitors won in the fifth by bunching four hits together with three Des Moines errors. Parvin went out of the box at the beginning of the eighth, as his arm gave down. The day was too cold for brilliant play. Score:

ON THE GRIDIRON

The Tigers, as they have been known for years, were out yesterday and Coach Ewing put them through some lively practice. There were 13 men out yesterday, a poor showing for the first day of college. Rittenhouse and Mead were not out yesterday. Rittenhouse had a bad knee. Mead did not get closer to the field than the gate for some reason known to himself. Reed, Bale, Neade, English, Dimmick and Kitely were new men out yesterday. Packard also had his suit on and got into the play. Kicking, catching and passing the ball were the features of yesterday's play.

The High school team is getting out daily. Prof. Mason is helping Randolph to coach the men and Loring Lennox is giving some valuable assistance. The team is showing a disposition to get into shape early and although it is light as compared with last year, it is already developing some team work that will count when the season is started.

So far, the State Agricultural college is making the best showing. The Aggies have some of the best men in the state this year and Toomey is doing his best to get a team that will carry off the honors.

Golden and Boulder are going ahead quietly. Very little news is coming from those institutions but it is known that both schools have material enough to make good teams.

It has been stated from a reliable source that one of the institutions in the intercollegiate league is not acting on the square with the others. It will not better football conditions in Colorado very much to have the athletic clubs cut out professionalism. If college teams are to indulge in it, clean sport, pure amateurism is what the colleges should stand for and any attempt to set men by improper inducements should be dealt with severely by the association.

Perfect diamond cutting makes the perfect stone. Above are shown two diamond cuts—the right way and the wrong way—our way and the other. In the thick edge or girdle cut you will see the thick band runs through the center of the stone and adds to its weight. The dotted lines on the second cut show that part of the stone which should be ground off to make a properly cut diamond. We are very careful to have all of our diamonds cut in a perfect way—round in shape, with thin edge and proper proportioned upper and lower parts and of standard quality, besides being sold at marvelously low prices.

Burlington Route

All that Could be Desired.

Black Hotel, Boston.

Dear Mac:

We were only too well pleased that we acted on your suggestion and made the trip from Denver to Chicago over the Burlington. The time made, comfort during trip and courtesy of employes en route, were all that could be desired.

Here is still another evidence of the Burlington's superiority. This man, a Bostonian—think of it!—is so impressed with it that he writes a friend 2,500 miles away to thank him for routing him over the "Good" line.

Omaha and Chicago trains leave Denver at 4:00 p. m. and 10:00 p. m. For Kansas City and St. Louis, at 2:15 p. m. and 10:00 p. m.
